

"The Mask"

Official Organ of the Kappa Psi Fraternity of the U. S. A. Published monthly during the Collegiate Year.

EDITOR

PRESS ELDRIDGE, JR.

P. O. Box 180 Madison Square Station, New York City.

ASSISTANT EDITORS

BETA—J. A. MORTON, '06

GAMMA—FREDERICK W. RUGG, '04

DELTA—H. PHILLIP HILL, JR., '06

EPSILON—E. FREDERICK MORRIS, '05

ZETA—LEO F. BRYNES, '06

ETA—EUGENE M. HOLROYD, '05

Vol. I

MARCH, 1904

No. 3

EDITORIAL

In accordance with Article 4, Section 2 of our Constitution, the G. A. of Kappa Psi made an official visit to all the Chapters of the Fraternity during the week ending February 21st.

The welcome accorded the G. A. from the different Chapters that he visited was cordial in the extreme, making his tour of inspection enjoyable as well as instructive and profitable. The writer was very much flattered and encouraged to observe the general prosperity of the fraternity as evidenced by the reception which he met with at all points.

We are certainly foremost in our particular line of work. The condition of the various Chapters would denote this fact. These conditions point only to greater ultimate prosperity and success. Six live and enthusiastic Chapters doing their best and most conscientious work explains the situation.

THE NECESSITY OF A FRATERNITY YELL

One of the minor details of a Fraternity such as ours is that we should adopt a national "yell." Here's an opportunity for some of our originative members.

The editor will be pleased to receive suggestions along this line from the readers of THE MASK. The man who will send to the editor what he considers to be the most euphonious and appropriate combination of sounds that will make a distinctive society yell will be remembered by the thanks of the whole Fraternity.

This is certainly an opportunity to achieve sudden and lasting fame. The suggestions will be published with the author's name, and the adoption of any particular suggestion as to this Fraternity yell will be left to a committee on "Exclamation and Effervescence." This committee will be appointed at the next meeting of the Grand Chapter. In the meantime let your gray matter play on this proposition.

"THE AGORA"

April 1st will mark the appearance of the third annual edition of "The Agora," the official directory of the Kappa Psi Fraternity. That the editors will strive to make this book more interesting and instructive than ever before need not be said; and in order to put it within the reach of all, the price will be reduced from 50 to 35 cents a copy. No true Kappa Psi man should be without this directory, for it is the means of keeping you in touch with all the men in the Fraternity. It furnishes you with their home address, and also gives you a complete list of every active, passive and honorary member of the Fraternity, with much more valuable information besides. Send a money order for 35 cents to Press Eldridge, Jr., P. O. Box 180, Madison Square Station, New York City, and get a copy of "The Agora."

THE BALTIMORE FIRE

The recent conflagration in Baltimore, when the heart of the business section of the city was entirely destroyed, involved, without doubt, the largest financial loss of any disaster of like character in modern times. Block after block of business houses succumbed to the fiery element, and now where the proud sky-scraper and humbler structure, which first made Baltimore famous as a business center, once stood, there remains but a mass of chaotic ruins.

Kappa Psi's two chapter rooms were not in the fire district, for which we are thankful, nor were the Universities in which we are established. The only one of our business friends who suffered was Mr. Fetting, manufacturing jeweller, whose offices on St. Paul street were destroyed. He was able, however, to save his entire stock, and writes the editor that he is able to continue business at his new quarters, No. 213 North Liberty street.

CHAPTER NEWS

BETA CHAPTER.

The coming of our G. A., Bro. Press Eldridge, Jr., was the signal for our annual banquet, which was held in the private dining hall of Murphy's Hotel on the night of February 19. The guests of honor were Press Eldridge (G. A.), of New York City, and Bros. Ferguson, Saunders, Adair, Kelly, Ogg, Roper and Ashton, S. A., all goats of the present session. Besides a full attendance of all the brothers, we were favored by a splendid representation of our honorary members from the faculty, and after an elaborate menu had been enjoyed, the following toasts were responded to with enthusiasm:

Toastmaster, T. F. Jarratt—Kappa Psi, Press Eldridge, Jr.; The Grand Officers, J. P. Proctor, M. D.; Past, Present and Future of Beta Chapter, F. H. Smith; The Graduate Member, P. H. Graybill, M. D.; Future Responsibilities, E. H. Connelly; The Young Man in Medicine, Virginius Harrison, M. D.; Extension, J. A. Morton; Impromptu, Hughart, J. H. Smith, Clemmer, Ashton, Saunders, Ogg and others.

My predecessor, in the January issue, touched upon the subject of extension and the future of Kappa Psi. He says the field is extensive and the future should be bright for, to quote him, "we still have at its head a Captain whose soul is wrapped up in the work of holding the ranks together and bringing into the organization new recruits, whose acquisition is for the uplifting and betterment of the entire regiment."

We cannot dwell too much at length along this line, and the writer begrudges the scarcity of time permitted him to devote to it in this article. It has been said that nothing can remain at a standstill always. We must either progress or retrograde. It is up to us, then, to stretch out and increase, and, indeed, were we all as enthusiastic and ardent workers as the pilot at our helm, the call for laborers would not go unheard.

Beta has been directing a zealous campaign in her immediate field, and we hope for good results at no very distant future.

The boys of U. C. M. will soon be in the midst of that most trying season—that of "Finals"—and they are all "getting busy." Beta hopes to lose four of best members by graduation, whom we shall miss greatly in our future deliberations. We wish for them much success, and must add that in taking their departure they have been careful to leave the affairs of Beta in good hands, with bright prospects.

We were glad to welcome as our guest during February our G. A., Bro. Press Eldridge, Jr.

The boys of Beta extend congratulations to Bro. Bowen on his safe return to his native land. "Josh," we hope you had a "bon voyage," and derived much benefit from the sea breezes.

J. A. MORTON, '06.

GAMMA CHAPTER.

The annual election of officers of Gamma Chapter was held Friday evening, February 19th, and resulted as follows: "A.," George M. Broemmel, San Francisco, Cal.; "O.," P. Alton Brewer, Hoboken, N. J.; secretary and treasurer, W. J. Slattery, Oswego, N. Y. The remaining offices will be filled by the following men: G. C. Rochlean, W. J. Sapp, Charles Sackett, H. O. vonWeddell and L. J. Finkle.

The incoming officers are certainly a fine body of men, and we, who have the Fraternity so much at heart, can rest assured that the future of Kappa Psi at Gamma will be well looked after.

In George M. Broemmel as "A" for the ensuing year we have an exceedingly good man. He is a graduate of the University of California at Berkley, class 1903, and a member of Sigma Chi and Theata Nu Epsilon, therefore well versed in the ropes of fraternalism. Here's success and congratulations to our new "A," and may Gamma flourish under his leadership.

"P. A." Everts more than deserved the vote of thanks extended to him at the last meeting, for he has been a hard and sincere worker, and he has turned over the affairs of the chapter in the best condition in its history. Once more boys! all up for Brother Everts, and may good luck always be with him.

Too good to be true—but, nevertheless it is—N. Y. C. P. has been made part of the great Columbia University, with another year added to the course. This means a great deal for the future Kappa Psi in New York City. More details of the affiliation will be made in our next issue.

"G. A." Eldridge has just returned from his Southern trip, with most interesting reports of the flourishing condition of our sister chapters.

Brother Everts had the honor to be elected class poet this week, due, doubtless, to the reputation he made at the class dinner last month at the Hotel Marlborough.

I have it on good authority that Past Secretary Ferrier has been “cutting” Materia Medica “Quizzes” lately for the purpose of amusing young ladies at Central Park with his fancy skating.

Was the annual dinner a success? You should have been there—one of the best dinners and jolliest times on record.

Four new members since last issue. They are: Winfield H. Sapp, Canton, Ohio; George W. Wilson, Wilkesbarre, Pa.; Leonard Finkle, Williamsbridge, N. Y.; Hassow O. von Weddell, Dobbs Ferry, N. Y.

Don't forget the annual “conclave” and lets hear from you on the subject. We think it a grand idea to increase the interest of the passive men, and are planning to send a big contingent down to Philadelphia next fall.

FREDERIC W. RUGG, '04.

DELTA CHAPTER.

We have adopted a scheme of late, by which we intend to keep in touch with not alone our passive members, but every Kappa Psi man that wishes to join us—that is, our yearly rally. We have the day definitely set for the second Friday night in February, when our annual banquet in honor of our graduating brothers will take place. This rally will be heralded in the MASK, so every one will know of it before the time comes.

We have been more careful this year of our goats. We have been very select as to their diet—no tin cans or old shoes—for the kids have been carefully housed and up to date we pride ourselves with four of the best corn-fed specimens in the school, and mother goat promises three more offsprings for our next meeting.

Our G. A.'s visit we consider as the event of the year he gave us a very interesting talk, by which our chapter was greatly benefited. Our meeting was followed by an informal smoker. After it was in progress for a while, Hill insisted upon telling his “louder” story. My advice is to all to never allow Hill to start that story or you will be sorry. Later in the evening Hayes & Campbell sang a duet, while Carnal made a quarter disappear. Everything was going along nicely until Collier, Harris Blackwell, Harrell & Stevens tried to get in some close harmony. Then the janitor called a halt. By the way—we also had the pleasure of having with us Dr. Josiah S. Bowen—just from London, “don't yer know”—while abroad Josh found more truth than poetry in the old song, “Home, Sweet Home.” He told us how it happened.

We also had a few words from Dr. Emerich. Boys, you all remember “Dutch.” Well, he was with us till the last.

During the past month somebody got into Hill's room and touched him for a few. Now he regrets that, whoever it was, he did not let him know or he surely would have had things in readiness for him. It must have been rather inconvenient going around looking for things in a strange room. And since he insisted upon having them, it would have been much more convenient to come in and find everything packed and a lunch waiting.

The writer understands the Agora will make its annual appearance in April. Every active and passive man of Delta should get a copy of this directory—it is as much your duty to do so, as it is to subscribe to the "Mask" or "Bones Molars and Briefs."

H. PHILLIP HILL, JR., 06.

EPSILON CHAPTER.

Since my former report there have been great changes in Baltimore, owing to the awful fire, which devastated almost the entire business (at least wholesale) portion of our city, making thousands homeless, fully 100,000 persons out of employment and wrecking fortunes. Yet after all this, we are thankful that it did not effect us seriously, although things were at a standstill for a couple of days as regards our college work.

The banquet, which, at my last writing, was under way, was held three weeks ago, and, although it was a "dry banquet," thanks to the committee and members of the faculty it was a decided success and is certainly a step in the right direction to make our fraternity better, by placing it on even a higher basis than ever. The Carrolton Hotel, where it was held, was destroyed in the big fire.

During the evening toasts of an enlivening character were given by members of the faculty and students, and in the wee, small hours of the morning we hied ourselves to our separate abodes, there to wrap ourselves in slumber's peaceful garb and dream of scenes of bygone days when we were free from the cares of college life, forgetting for the time that life held any anxieties for us. Epsilon is awake to the conditions which must necessarily exist at such times, as at present seem to face fraternities: i. e., the building up with staunch men the structure, which, must necessarily at the close of the college year, be effected by so many of our number graduating, and we expect to find ourselves as strong, if not stronger, another year.

At our last meeting we had the pleasure of having with us our G. A., and although not present myself owing to college Y. M. C. A.

work, which necessitated my absence, I have been informed that there was a large number present, and many things of importance were disposed of. Last Wednesday evening the members of Epsilon Chapter were most hospitably entertained by Dr. R. C. McNeer, Clinical Professor of Orthopedic Surgery, at his residence, 1227 North Calvert street. A large number of charming young ladies from one of the women's colleges were also invited guests of the evening's festivities, which made the time pass away all too soon, as was manifested by the expression of different young men, as the young ladies took their departure, unescorted by the stronger sex, for their college quarters.

To say that Dr. and Mrs. McNeer entertained us royally is putting it mildly and we would very gently whisper to them, informing them of the fact that we certainly shall take the opportunity of accepting their very cordial invitation to call again. We certainly hope that their wedded life, which has just begun, may be a long, happy one, and prosperity be theirs throughout their earthly pilgrimage.

E. FREDERIC MORRIS, '05.

ZETA CHAPTER.

Although next Thursday night brings new officers to our chapter, it will not be amiss here to make a few remarks on the outgoing men who have piloted Kappa Psi during the past term, men who put us where we are to-day, men who labored with untiring efforts for the benefit of their chapter, men whose predominating idea was "Hustle for your chapter." I cannot find words suitable enough to give praise to Brothers Coleman and Hamilton. Every member of Zeta joins with me in showering congratulations on the outgoing officers.

Now a word to those who are to succeed them. Brother Gannon, who will hold the office made vacant by Brother Coleman, is a man of determination, one who will hustle, a brother who has the love of his chapter at heart. May you guide us with the same vigilant eye that marked the work of your predecessor.

Brother Sweeney will take Brother Hamilton's place at the other end. It might be an item of interest to state here that Brother Sweeney is president of his class, and if he labors for his chapter as hard as he does for his class, Zeta will be a flourishing proposition.

The office of secretary and treasurer left vacant by Brother Hayden will be a hard one to fill and if the writer keeps up the work that Brother Hayden has left in such an excellent condition, I feel the chapter will be more than satisfied.

Brothers Simpson and Mulholland received other offices and I am quite sure they will carry out their end with due credit to their chapter. Brother Simpson is vice-president of his class and I am proud to say that all the new officers are men chosen from the class of '06.

In fact, when the present senior class leaves us we will have fifteen second year men in the chapter and men who lead their class.

The writer feels himself handicapped this month, as the last regular meeting I was confined to bed, but since that time I have heard great comments on Brother Eldridge, who was present at that time.

All the members will cherish that night and particularly Brother Eldridge, who furnished a great part of the programme himself and amused his brothers with songs and recitations, ably assisted by Brother Hamilton, with his favorite banjo. Brother Nussa was initiated into Kappa Psi on that evening and states that he is glad he is one of us. At the next regular meeting to be held on Thursday evening, March 3, 1904, two more men from the class of '06 will be initiated, and a man from the class of '07 will pledge himself on the same evening.

Everything is going along gloriously at Zeta and by the end of next week we will number twenty-five active men.

All the members of Zeta join with me in sending best wishes to the other chapters and hope they will continue their fine work.

LEO F. BYRNES, '06.

ETA CHAPTER.

Eta wishes to introduce to her brothers several worthy men who have lately sworn allegiance to the order. They are Brothers Peter L. Colberg, Norwich, Conn.; E. Elsworth Scatchard, Oneonta, N. Y.; C. John Lehman, Newberry, Pa.; L. E. Boesser, Shrewsbury, Pa.; Robert Goldcamp, Ironton, Ohio Andrew E. Spalding, Troy, Pa.

This will probably be the last letter from Eta Chapter this term, as our college closes early in March. We will lose by graduation several men. We still wish them to remember, however, that they will always be welcome at any of the meetings or entertainments of Eta Chapter and when they call on us we assure them always of a most cordial greeting. As far as we know our graduates will be: W. E. Glaspell, whose place will be very hard to fill, as he is the most enthusiastic man we have; Wm. M. Young, our society man; Walter E. Brown, Charles Gauter, G. Frederick Wagner, A. Newton McCausland, our P. A.; Henry McLuide, William S. Ross, Robert Greer and James Lovatt.

Eta Chapter expresses its regret that Brother Eldridge could not have been with us at a regular meeting, but we all enjoyed meeting him, even though it was at a Junior Hop, and he had to talk to us between dances and when not diligently engaged in conversing with Philadelphia's fair sex. We will be pleased to see him again at any time.

On March 9th we expect to sit down to a sumptuous repast, when our annual banquet takes place, and the writer is given to understand that it will be the event of the year.

We regret to learn of the death of Brothers Boesser's father. Eta Chapter extends its heartfelt sympathy to Brother Boesser and his family in this their darkest hour.

Although rather early in the season Eta wishes all a pleasant vacation and sincerely trusts that every Kappa Psi man in the class of 1904 will graduate with high honors.

EUGENE M. HOLROYD, '05.

GAMMA'S ANNUAL

The Empire Hotel was the place, Wednesday evening, February 24, the time and the annual banquet of Gamma Chapter of Kappa Psi Fraternity of the United States of America was the attraction, and it proved to be a good drawing card, too. The boys began to arrive before 9 o'clock and by 9:30 no less than forty-five members of the Brotherhood of Psi had put in an appearance. In the meantime, the spirits of the waiting brothers were enlivened by strains of music from an orchestra, stationed near for their especial benefit. The march to the dining room was started at 9:45, and after a short prayer by Brother Dupin, covers were raised.

It is needless to say that the wants of the inner man were well looked after and that the boys certainly had one "square meal" for that week.

The guests of honor were Press Eldridge, Jr., Dr. Geo. C. Diekmann, Dr. Virgil Coblenz, Dr. John Oehler and Dr. Anton Vorisek. Letters of regret were read from Dr. H. H. Rusby, Dr. H. B. Ferguson, and a telegram from Wm. A. Hoburg, Jr.

The passive members present were "P. A." Thomas Cheatham, "P. O.'s" Reynolds and von Weddell, Past Secretaries Meyer and McKown, and Brothers Drukworth, Fordham, Boyd, Porter, Hargrave, Daniels, Burt, and Stowe.

The "actives" were "A" Everts and "A."-elect Broemmell, "O." Rugg, and "O."-elect Brewer, Secretary Ferrier, and Secretary-elect Slattery, Brothers Dupin, Hart, Holton, Keegan, Reinhold, Chapman, Champlin, Holmes, Sapp Rochelean, Finkle, and Wilson.

The toastmaster's chair was filled to perfection by "G. A." Eldridge, who introduced the various speakers in a most interesting manner. Drs. Coblentz and Oehler, being commuters, were obliged to leave early to the extreme disappointment of the boys who were looking forward to some good things from them. The first toast was to Kappa Psi and was well replied to by "A." Everts.

Dr. Diekmann was the next man and was greeted with deafening applause on rising to answer to the toast, "Pharmacy—Its Future," "Our Alma Mater" was replied to by "P. A." Cheatham.

"Fraternalism," the next toast, was replied to by "A." Broemmel, and (to use a slang expression) was a "corker." "The Alumni" was represented by "P. O." Reynolds. "Where a College Man Spends His Leisure Time," by Brother Drukworth. "Bottled Sunshine," the toast originally down for Dr. Coblentz, was well replied to by Dr. Vorisek.

The last toast, to "THE MASK," was replied to by "yours truly," after which several other brothers were called upon. The prevailing sentiment was of sincere enthusiasm and well demonstrated the fact that Kappi Psi was destined to be the leading medical fraternity of the country. The dinner broke up with three lusty cheers for Dr. Diekmann, who has so loyally given his support to "THE MASK." It is needless to say that the motto on our menu will be well remembered and lived up to. "May the hinges of fraternalism never become rusty."

FREDERIC W. RUGG, Gamma '04.

THE ANNUAL CONCLAVE

To say the least, I heartily approve of Brother Rugg's idea for keeping passive members in touch with the fraternity. In my opinion, this pilgrimage would fill the bill in the best manner possible. What Brother is there among you who cannot save up a few dollars and take Thanksgiving week off, for a general good time. The pleasure, interest, and good fellowship derived from such a course would be unspeakable. Another great advantage would be that each one could attend the convention, meet their former college chums and talk over old times. Friends of a life time would be the outcome of this pilgrimage, and I doubt very much anyone attending once would fail to be present a second time.

I take this medium of talking directly to each active and passive member in general and Eta chapter in particular. Philadelphia is an ideal center for such a gathering. A committee of the local chapter could furnish amusement for the visitors, the same as for the delegates. Dances, theatre parties, etc, could easily be arranged. Imagine, if you can, a large, spacious dance hall, elaborately trimmed with scarlet, with corners here and there decorated with the colors of each chapter. Ladies in pretty gowns, the orchestra playing dreamy waltzes, and the air filled with Kappa Psi. This will indeed be a moment to be remembered and an ideal that can easily be realized. Besides these functions there will be three famous football games during the week. P. C. P., Pennsylvania and Cornell, Army and Navy.

Now, men of Eta it is certainly up to you. The arrangement of these affairs won't take much trouble. Plenty of your passive members will be on hand to help you. Let's show the other chapters what Eta can do. Let the "Baby" chapter instruct and set an elegant example to its "Parents." Let everyone "get busy" with a vim, extend the invitation to the other chapters and every charter member will be on hand to help you in the good cause. Let us hear from everyone of you on this subject. Kappa Psi demands your best efforts. Let us show our brothers the time of their lives.

HENRY A. SMITH, "Eta" 03.

ONE WAY OF KEEPING PASSIVE MEMBERS IN TOUCH

Several days ago, I received the initial copy of the official organ of Kappa Psi, and in it I see an article over the name of Jno. E. Hughart, asking for some suggestions as to the best means of keeping the passive members' interest in the fraternity at white heat, and the idea has occurred to me that if a department of THE MASK be set aside each month for the passive members to keep full of what will most interest them—such as description and discussion of interesting cases for the physicians and article on the newer remedies, and late pharmaceutical and chemical facts for the pharmacists, and things that will be at once interesting and instructive to us as physicians and pharmacists, that our interest in THE MASK will be materially increased and through it we will be in close touch with the fraternity. This will entail quite a little work upon the editorial staff; but I believe that they will be repaid many, many times for their labor by the increased circulation, and interest manifested by the passive members.

As this article rightly says, when we are once out of college and head over heels in the problem of keeping the wolf intimidated we have very little to direct even our thoughts toward the fraternity, for all of our classmates are like ourselves, "frying some little fishes."

DR. H. HOUSTON HUGHART, '00 (Beta).

PENNSYLVANIA MEDICAL EXAMINATION. QUESTIONS USED
JUNE 25-28, 1902.

Anatomy

1. Name in their order, the structures between the cutaneous surface of the perineum and the mucous membrane of the bladder, at the prostatic plain.
2. Describe the structures composing the inguinal canal, and locate the related principal artery.
3. Describe the elbow-joint, name the ligaments, and give their attachments.
4. Give the macroscopic anatomy and location of the right kidney.
5. Locate the caput coli, and describe its relations.
6. Give the gross anatomy of the eye, and name its external muscles.
7. Describe the superior maxilla, and give its relations.
8. Describe the trachea.
9. What is the chief difference between the male and female pelvis?
10. Name and describe the arrangement of the carpal bones.

Physiology

1. Describe the lymph, state where it originates, and explain the functions of the factors operative in causing its circulation.
2. Name the centers and the nerves which regulate intestinal peristalsis, and describe their action.
3. Name the varieties of blood that circulate in the liver, state their sources, and give the destinations and functions of each.
4. What is the physiological significance of the normal patellar reflex, and through what nerves is it accomplished?
5. Name the end products resulting from the digestion of the three principal types of food, and explain how and through what channels they enter the circulation.

Pathology

1. Describe the pathologic condition of both the tissues and circulation which cause edema, and explain its production.
2. Describe the bacillus typhosis, and state (a) whether erobic or anerobic, (b) saprophytic or parasitic, (c) facultativ, strict or obligatory, (d) the manner of its action, (e) where found in body and how eliminated.
3. Compare the pathological histology of tuberculous and traumatic peritonitis.
4. Describe the pathologic process, characteristic of primary, so-called, hepatic cirrhosis, and explain why the area involved determines the different types.
5. Name one type of neoplasm developing in a structure evolved from each layer of the blastoderm, and describe their histological characteristics.

Chemistry

1. Describe the chlorids found in the urin, state their significance and give tests for their detection.
2. State the significance of urobilin and urerytirin, and give tests for their detection.
3. How would you distinguish chemically between uric acid and urea?
4. Write the chemical reaction that occurs when bicarbonate of sodium is administered for hyperacidity of the gastric juice.
5. Describe the tests for bile, blood and albumin in the urin.

Materia Medica

1. Give the dose of each of the following expressed in the metric system: pilocarpin, hyoscin, sulfate of soda and tincture of belladonna.
2. Give the principal antidote in poisoning by each of the following: cocain, tartar emetic, corrosiv sublimate, carbohic acid and stramonium.
3. Correct the following prescription:

R
 Powdered charcoal Jan. 7, 1902.
 Pulv. Jalapi grs. 60
 Ext. hyoscyamus grs. 4
 Pepsini, of each gros. 30
 Mix. ft. in pills No. 30 et.
 Sig. One or two after meals. J. J. J.

4. Give the smallest poisonous dose (in an adult) of phenacetin, santonin, elaterium, fluid extract of aconite root and carbolic acid.
5. Give the symptoms and treatment in a case of chronic arsenical poisoning.

Therapeutics

1. State the condition of the venous system, and the arterial system that indicates the use of digitalis, and what effect this drug has on the arterioles.
2. Name the two most active vasomotor stimulants, the two most active respiratory stimulants, and indicate how they are useful in shock.
3. Explain how saline cathartics are beneficial in septic peritonitis, and why hypodermoclysis of normal salt solution is indicated in same affection.
4. Give the physiological action of ergot, and name the conditions that indicate its use in labor, and the contra indications.
5. In chronic lead poisoning, what remedies are indicated, and how are they beneficial?

Diagnosis

1. Differentiate diphtheria and follicular tonsillitis.
2. Differentiate cataract and chronic glaucoma.
3. Differentiate mastoiditis and cerebral meningitis.
4. Diagnosticate spleno-medullary leukemia.
5. Differentiate acute lobar pneumonia and acute bronchitis.

Practise

1. Define hepatic colic, giving symptoms and treatment.
2. Give the etiology, name the structures involved, and describe the clinical history, physical signs and treatment of so-called broncho pneumonia.
3. Give the etiology, name the structures involved, and describe the clinical history, urinalysis and treatment of any one type of chronic nephritis.
4. Define multiple neuritis, and give the clinical history, prognosis and treatment.
5. State the period of incubation of scarlet fever and rubeola, describe the character of the rash in each, and state when and where it first appears.

Surgery

1. Describe a bloodless method of amputation at the hip-joint.
2. Describe the symptoms and treatment of traumatic perforation of the intestine.
3. Describe complete indirect inguinal hernia, the symptoms of incarceration, methods of reduction, and operation if strangulation obtains.
4. Describe tracheotomy for a foreign body, and state what is to be done if it cannot be found.
5. Describe the surgical treatment for retention of urin.
6. Give symptoms of acute intestinal obstruction and describe procedure, if the celiotomy discovers the cause to be Meckel's diverticulum.
7. Give the symptoms accompanying the unconsciousness of cranial trauma that demand prompt operative treatment, and describe the procedure.
8. Describe amputation of the second phalanx of the fore-finger in the continuity of the bone.
9. Define compound fracture and detail the treatment for that of any one bone.
10. Describe the operation for ligation of the subclavian artery.

STEPHEN LANE FOLGER

180 BROADWAY, New York

-- Manufacturer of --

"Kappa Psi Pins," PLAIN And JEWELLED

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED

PACH BROS.

Photographers

935 BROADWAY, Cor. 22nd STREET

Fraternalities, Classes and all Societies receive special attention. All college and individual work at special rates.

COMPLIMENTS

of the

COLLEGE OF PHARMACY

of the

CITY OF NEW YORK

MEYER BROTHERS

Druggists

1210 THIRD AVENUE, Cor. 70th STREET

Prescription Work a Specialty

Telephone 3424-79th St.