The MASK of Kappa Psi Pharmaceutical Fraternity

From the Grand Regent

Brian Reisetter

It was a great meeting indeed.

I am writing this letter on my trip home from the ASHP meeting in Las Vegas, Nevada, in December 2000, and I wanted to relay some of my experiences to the entire fraternity. We had a great meeting this year. A really great meeting.

As you are most likely aware, Kappa Psi Pharmaceutical Fraternity, Inc. does not officially participate in the ASHP meetings per se. However, we do exhibit in the exhibition hall during the four days of the convention. At our booth, the Executive Committee members in attendance get the opportunity to talk with a large number of our brothers. In fact, we conversed with over 400 brothers at the booth during the 16 hours we were there. Some brothers were pledges or neophytes, some were chapter leaders, some were recent graduates, while some were brothers dating back several decades. Regardless of their age or years of Kappa Psi experience, they all had one thing in common—love and mutual respect for this great fraternity. The enthusiasm of brothers present was palpable.

The experience in Las Vegas was particularly poignant this year to me. I was reunited with several brothers who were collegiate brothers of mine at Drake University, including one member of my 1981 Beta Chi pledge class whom I have only seen once in the last 15 years. I also got to visit with many recent graduates I had met as collegiate brothers over the last 10 years of international travel through Kappa Psi. It was great to learn about the residencies, internships, new jobs and exciting new challenges available to our past collegiate leaders as they officially enter our mutual pharmacy profession. It was also great to see the smiles on the faces of our older brothers when they saw our booth and remembered for the first time in ages just how much Kappa Psi once meant in their lives. One brother in his early sixties thanked us profusely for bringing back such a flood of personal Kappa Psi memories, just by our presence at the meeting.

Probably the most encouraging experience during the week, though, was meeting our current collegiate leadership. The enthusiasm, professionalism and commitment of the collegiate brothers was evident wherever and whenever we met them. For example, Scott, Dave, Cameron and I decided to spend some time at the student poster presentations during the last full day of the meeting, and met numerous brothers from several different chapters presenting their research to other professionals in attendance. The influences of our individual brothers and their professional accomplishments were as widespread and self-evident as I can ever remember. We have many reasons to be proud of our mutual brothers within Kappa Psi.

Experiences like mine in Las Vegas only serve to reinforce the importance of our "Kappa Psi for Life" philosophy. It would be a shame to think that 10 years from now one of our current collegiate leaders would walk by the Kappa Psi booth at ASHP or APhA and not feel connected to each of us as brothers. The mutual commitment continues far beyond our undergraduate college years . . . as it should. We learn and experience from each other in every conceivable capacity, regardless of our year of graduation. Let's remember to stress that fact to our future Kappa Psi generations.

Fraternally,

Brian Reisetter, R.Ph., M.B.A.

A MILLENNIAL MEMORY

By Craig A. Johnston, Grand Vice Regent

A long flight across the country from Montana to Boston, Massachusetts. Below us miles and miles of terrain. Beautiful, rugged, challenging us to complete our goal of crossing it with all the challenges, weather and fatigue that lay ahead. One last view from overhead—from here it didn't look so bad or take so long.

Landing in Boston, the brothers of Mu Chapter were there to greet Dave Mountan and Jake Simkins and gather their equipment for the upcoming trip. The next day the brothers gathered and packed the van, donated in part by Penske Truck Rental, Inc. They also met Justin Nicholls (the third rider) at the bus station upon his arrival from Maine.

On a crisp Sunday morning (May 28, 2000) the three bikers set out for their first of many 90-mile day trips. At their first bed and breakfast stop, the receptionist made a donation to the Millennial Ride for Diabetes, a pattern which would be repeated over and over again during the next three months.

After two days of a steady, low-grade climb, the trio reached Albany, New York, and Beta Delta Chapter. Brother John Copeland and others treated the riders to a dose of New York hospitality. After climbing the hills to Albany, the brothers of Beta Delta offered a welcome respite. Later, Dave Mountan would write in his notebook, "We have been to the top of the mountan! (note spelling) but we have yet to see the other side!"

On to Oneonta and Binghamton, New York, and then on to Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, arriving one day early so they could participate in an ADA diabetes camp in the Poconos with Delta Omicron. They still managed a stop at Cooperstown and the Baseball Hall of Fame!

Riding into Wikes-Barre, many cars and trucks honked at the bikers, a response requested by a radio station in the area earlier that day to demonstrate support. This was an unexpected but welcome surprise. Brother David Maize gave the brothers his home to live out of and, after enjoying a well-needed shower, the trio was treated by brothers of Delta Omicron and Pocono Graduate Chapter to an evening of fellowship and dinner at an Irish Pub! Yes, all three bikers kissed the blarney stone several times that night!

The next morning the bikers were treated to break-fast by brothers Jeremy and Nokimie who then took them to the American Diabetes Association children's diabetic camp for what turned out to be one of the highlights of the entire trip! As the bikers met with recently diagnosed young diabetics and their families, they posed for pictures, gave bike rides and autographs, and provided important communication. Justin Nicholls had the opportunity to share with several parents that diabetes does not have to limit their children's lives as he demonstrated by participating in the ride. One father in particular was brought to tears when he realized that his fears of a limited lifestyle for his newly diagnosed son were not justified. Dave would later write, "The adrenaline released from this encounter alone was enough to get us through the next 1,000 miles!" Local television coverage was enjoyed by several brothers, including Past Grand Regent Paul Hiller, at a picnic held later that evening at Dr. Maize's home.

The next morning the trio attended a check presentation ceremony at Wilkes University by Delta Omicron. Brother Kelly Kozerski helped the riders take care of some needed bike repairs and then escorted them to a dinner with Pocono Graduate Chapter and several collegiate brothers. The warmth and love demonstrated by the brothers of Delta Omicron and Pocono Grad was needed the next morning as the trio left Wilkes-Barre in a driving, freezing rain in 40-degree temperatures that lasted all the way to Allentown.

Brother Jeremy Gerber drove the van, which allowed all three riders to be on the road. During the terrible trip to Allentown, a van stopped then drove back to the riders in the rain. A small child asked if they were the riders for diabetes, and when the bikers replied in the affirmative, the girl and her mom gathered all the money they had with them and gave it to the bikers, rain and all. This again affirmed to the trio that their cause was a good one.

As the riders made their way to Philadelphia, brother Debra Davis greeted them and led them to her parents' house where they staved while in the Philadelphia area. On Thursday, the brothers met with brothers of Beta Omega who presented them with a large check reflecting the funds they had raised for the ride. The riders then continued on to Baltimore where they met with brother Terry Tran of Sigma Chapter.

Moving on to Washington, D.C., the brothers rode their bikes right up to the sidewalk of the White House where security descended upon them and asked them to remove the bikes from the area. While in the D.C. area, they stayed with Gamma Eta brother Greg Arnold, who was performing a fellowship, and visited with brother Sean Boynes of Delta Kappa (Howard University) before starting their long trip to the west.

After a one-day visit with brothers of Delta Xi in Winchester, Virginia, and the long climb in the rain through the mountains of West Virginia, they made their way into the open arms of Beta Eta in Morgantown, West Virginia. Regent Karra Bazzie had prepared a great stay. With the help of brother Stephanie Cromwell, a wonderful evening of dining and fun was followed by several trips to bike shops for repairs, meetings with the Dean and GCD of Beta Eta, and then an evening with the brothers preparing posters and supplies for a diabetes fair hosted by the chapter the next day. With free blood glucose and lipid monitoring and talks by physicians, certified diabetic educators and dieticians, valuable information sharing and screening was performed.

Thanks to brothers Jason Duncan and Jarrett Ansden for their help. Approximately $300 was raised for the Home sweet home!

Next, the trio set out for Wisconsin, stopping in Madison and at the Beta Psi Chapter for a Fourth of July celebration! Thanks to brother Jill Lemke, Province V satrap, who greeted the brothers with a ready-to-eat barbecue and a sign on the Beta Psi house welcoming the Millennial Ride for Diabetes. The hospitality shared by Jill and the Beta Psi brothers was fantastic and greatly appreciated! Brothers Bonnie, Scott and Becky also made the stay in Madison a special celebration. Great fellowship was enjoyed for the holiday.

Heading northwest out of Madison, the bikers went through some of the worst weather of the trip which included tornado warnings and 70-mile-per-hour headwinds. The bikers arrived two hours late at Epsilon Chapter and Minnesota Graduate Chapter. To quote brother Jake, "I have never seen clouds that dark in my life!" But behind every cloud is a silver lining. Arriving at brother Tracy Anderson's house was the beginning of a great couple of days of warm hospitality. Dinner and great times began immediately. To quote the summary by brother Dave, "Sprout Rocks!!!!" Through the efforts of brother Tracy and Minnesota Graduate member Chrisann Rauzi, the brothers participated in a ride through the capital area along the river of the campus of the University of Minnesota, where they were joined by brothers Johnny Reglose, Mike Haag and Lawrence Brown. Lee Brown, a local ADA representative, presented the trio with T-shirts and took pictures. After some recreation at the Mall of America, they were treated to dinner by Minnesota Grad at Players. The night before they left, over 40 brothers joined the riders at Tracy's house for another barbecue. Memories of this great fellowship would be needed during the long days that lay ahead while crossing Minnesota and North Dakota.

The once difficult 90-mile days were replaced by 180-mile days as the chapters grew fewer and the states grew longer. Passing the halfway mark, the riders gathered new determination. Three days later, the trio rode into Fargo, North Dakota, and the fellowship of Beta Sigma Chapter. Beta Sigma had been renovating their house when they were hit by tremendous rains that flooded it. They were still recovering from this disaster when the riders arrived. The brothers of Beta Sigma went out of their way, though, to help the trio and organized a diabetes health fair, pledging a large donation to the ride. Their efforts were greatly appreciated.

Dave Mountan relaxes at Locksaw Lodge in Idaho during Millennial Ride for Diabetes. Thank you to Lifescan, Roche Pharmaceuticals and local drug and grocery stores for their donations to this event.

Next stop was Beta Kappa in Pittsburgh and reuniting with brother Debra Davis whose hospitality was again greatly appreciated. Media interviews with KDKA radio and TV as well as WTAE helped communicate the need to support research on diabetes and its complications, and to educate the public as to the important role pharmacists play.

Catching a Pirates baseball game and a cookout at the Beta Kappa house were enjoyable. The brothers of Beta Kappa and Graduate Member-at-Large Dave Maszkiewicz took the trio to Mount Washington and rode with them on the historic Duquesne Incline. Next was the trip to Columbus, Ohio, to visit with Xi Chapter where the brotherhood of this small but strong chapter impressed the riders. On through Cincinnati (a Reds game) and into Indianapolis where brother Jenny Matt had arranged a media stop with an NBC affiliate, WTHR. The Sunday morning media event went pretty well considering the brothers of Beta Upsilon (including Regent Stacy Thomas) had a party for the trio which lasted into the wee hours of the morning. Brother Debra Davis once again met up with the riders and allowed all three of them to bike into West Lafayette to meet the brothers of Pi chapter and have dinner with Jared Bachman, past regent, and Alan Slade, present regent.

The next trip was to Chicago where brother and Delta Nu Regent Tina Dell'Angelo had a great weekend planned. Jake's father and Dave's fiancée, Marcie Alexander, met up with the trio and enjoyed a Red Sox/White Sox baseball game with them. They were given a house belonging to an uncle of a Delta Nu brother for their stay, which was wonderful. Jake had gotten into a dehydration situation on the drive into town and Leaving Fargo, the bikers set out for the 350-mile trip to their home state of Montana. After a rousing rendition of the state song, the riders pushed on in two days to Miles City, Montana. Once again, they were met by Debra Davis, who had driven from Alaska with a friend, and only went 400 miles out of her way to encourage the trio on their venture. Debra's new nickname was "OmniDebbie."

Passing through Billings, the trio toured the newest Diabetes Certified Hospital in Montana with Mary Hernandez of the ADA and met many of the patients for whom they had been riding. The riders quickly arrived in their hometowns of Great Falls and Helena, where they were greeted by television and radio reporters, conducted two interviews with local newspapers and performed public service announcements. The 10 o'clock news interview was followed by an interview with an elderly diabetic woman who had just lost her leg to the complications of diabetes, which emphasized clearly why the riders were undertaking this trip. Next was a 114-mile trip to the hometown of Missoula where Gamma Eta is located. Radio stations announced their arrival, and cars and bikes met the trio as they entered the city. This included brother Craig Johnston, Grand Vice Regent, who had coordinated the trip. A group of supporters welcomed the bikers as they drove into The University of Montana. Dinner that night was followed by an interview the next day with the university newspaper. A Diabetes Prevention Trial screening for type I diabetes and an education clinic was held on campus in conjunction with Western Montana Clinic and the University of Washington. Thank you to Sharon Johston, RN and CDE, for her efforts in setting up this screening. An interview with the Missoulian newspaper and a live spot with Z100 radio advertised the Diabetes Prevention Trial, which was covered live by KECI TV.

As the riders set out across Lolo Pass and into Idaho, several Gamma Eta brothers and friends accompanied the trio on the first 40 miles of the trip. The fires of 2000 were directly in the way of the riders who beat the closing of Lolo Pass by two days on their trip. After losing the support van and nearly losing brother Johnston who had joined the trio just one day earlier, the riders made the trip into Pullman, Washington, with a replacement van. There they enjoyed the fellowship of Beta Pi at Washington State University. Thanks to brothers Nicholas Blanchard and Catherine Elstad, Beta Pi GCDs, and brother and Dean William Fassett who greeted the riders, took them to dinner, helped them with some media connections and put them up in the newly acquired Beta Pi house.

As they left Pullman and started toward Seattle, the riders were accompanied briefly by Gamma Eta brother Dean Goroski who was performing an externship in Spokane. Crossing the high desert of Eastern Washington, climbing the steep grade out of the Columbia River Basin and crossing the Cascade Mountain Range was beautiful, but challenging. As the bikers rode the last 60 miles into Seattle, biking right up to Pike Street Market and down to the Pacific Ocean, they were greeted by brother Gary Elmer, Beta Omicron GCD. He took the bikers to his beautiful home where he fed and housed several members of the trio's family in preparation for the final ceremony.

The next day, the van was turned in, and the following people met at The University of Washington for a final celebration and ceremony of the successful completion of the Millennial Ride for Diabetes: Dr. Craig A. Johnston, grand vice regent, who flew in to present the check and represent the Central Office; Geoffrey Cheng, Beta Omicron regent; Dr. Don Williams, Seattle Graduate regent and executive director of the Washington Board of Pharmacy; Dr. Gary Elmer, treasurer; Dr. Jackie Gardner, Dr. Elmer's wife and faculty member of the College of Pharmacy at the University of Washington; Dave Mountan and his mother, sister and grandmother; Justin Nicholls; Virgil Clarkson, chair, Mountain Pacific Region Board, American Diabetes Association; Christine Reyes and Katy Butler of the Diabetes Prevention Trial—Type I, along with some of their student associates; and other faculty members of the College of Pharmacy. A question and answer session for the riders, a brief synopsis of the highs and lows of the trip, a welcome by Mr. Clarkson and Regent Cheng, and a check presentation by Dr. Johnston was followed by a reception at the College of Pharmacy.

The close fellowship, obstacles which were overcome, the positive image cast upon Kappa Psi, the large amount of shared information about diabetes and the role of pharmacists as health care professionals, not to mention the thousands of dollars which were donated for diabetes research, proved that this national fund-raiser for Kappa Psi Pharmaceutical Fraternity, Inc., was well worth the effort. I hope the next grand vice regent will take on a similar challenge on behalf of the fraternity. An honor roll of chapters, individuals and organizations contributing to the more than $40,000 raised in this effort will be included in the next issue of The Mask.

Chapters and individuals who have not yet contributed to this national fund-raiser and who would like to help us get closer to 100 percent contribution, IT IS NOT TOO LATE!

Send contributions made payable to: Millennial Ride for Diabetes or Kappa Psi to: Dr. Craig A. Johnston, School of Pharmacy & Allied Health Sciences, Skaggs Bldg., Room 275, The University of Montana, Missoula, MT 59812-1552. A receipt will be sent to you the day your contribution is received. Thank you in advance for your contribution.

Anniversary

During the weekend of October 13-15, the brothers of Xi Chapter at The Ohio State University hosted the Province V Midyear in conjunction with the celebration of their 75th anniversary.

On Friday night, the brothers held a social mixer at a local pub where food and refreshments were served. Everyone had an enjoyable time catching up and meeting new people.

A brief meeting was held Saturday morning followed by a CE on herbals. After the CE, several brothers attended the OSU football game while others went to check out the city of Columbus.

At the banquet Saturday night, speeches were given by Grand Regent Brian Reisetter, Grand Ritualist Cameron Van Dyke and Graduate Member-at-Large Dave Maszkiewicz. Grand Regent Reisetter also presented Xi Chapter with a plaque recognizing their 75 years of service to the fraternity.

Xi Chapter would like to thank all the brothers who attended the celebration, especially the brothers of Beta Kappa and Lynette Wiel, who traveled outside of their own provinces to help make the event more memorable.

Cameron Van Dyke Grand Ritualist

Kappa Psi Notables

Robert A. Magarian, Ph.D., Beta Rho, of Norman, Oklahoma, has dedicated his professional life to breast cancer research. He was recently named a Generations of Success Award recipient by Southwestern Illinois College and its Foundation. The college's major award salutes outstanding graduates of the community college. Magarian, University of Oklahoma College of Pharmacy professor emeritus, is also a founder of the Norman Christmas Day Community Dinner. Magarian graduated from the community college in 1950. College President Dr. Elmer H. Kirchoff recently presented the award to Magarian and four other graduates of Belleville Area College. The college changed its name to Southwestern earlier this year.

James B. Hills, Delta Theta, Houston, Texas, received the Chauncey I. Cooper Award at the 53rd Annual Meeting of the National Pharmaceutical Association (NPhA) held in Baltimore, Maryland.

The Chauncey I. Cooper Medal Award was established to honor the founder of the National Pharmaceutical Association. This is the highest award given by NPhA. It recognizes an individual who has shown sustained and distinguished service to the profession of pharmacy. James B. Hills exemplifies the type of person for whom the award was created to honor. Mr. Hills received his bachelor of science degree in Pharmacy from Texas Southern University and a master's degree in Religious Education from Louisiana Christian University. He is currently president and CEO of LaPorte Apothecary, Inc. and Diversified Healthcare Resources, Inc. in Houston, Texas.

Robert A. Magarian, Ph.D. (Beta Rho) receives an award from President Dr. Elmer H. Kirchoff of Southwestern Illinois College.

Readers: Tell us about notable Kappa Psi members that you know. Jot us a note, send us an e-mail or a fax. This does not have to be time consuming. A photocopy of a press release or article you have seen on a notable member would be very helpful. The MASK is always in need of good photos. If possible, try to obtain a photo of the notable person. Anything you see of interest to the rest of our Kappa Psi brothers is worth turning in. Please include a phone number of someone who can could be contacted to verify information.

Epsilon

University of Minnesota

Epsilon Chapter would like to welcome the newest brothers to Kappa Psi fraternity: Alison Cook, Erin Dobberpuhl, Ann Johnson, Kelly Konz, Matthew Kresl, Gina Lamm, Stacey Ness, Vivian Nnacho, Stanley Nwokoro, Tricia North, Amy Paver, Molly Rasinski, Kristi Solberg, Shannon Streed and Shaunna Sund. On November 15, these new brothers had their formal initiation followed by a brief reception.

We have continued our tradition of giving STI talks to local area high schools throughout the semester. These talks help educate high school students about negative outcomes of having unsafe sexual practices. These speeches are given to educate not only the high school students, but fraternity members as well, since they teach us how to deal with hard-to-answer questions.

We held a Halloween treat bag sale this year to benefit the Ronald McDonald House. The sale was a rousing success, and we repeated the same sale for the Christmas holidays.

Finally, Epsilon Chapter donated our time to help at the Target Center before a Timberwolves game. Our group helped with games that children could play before watching the game. It was a great time watching all the children have so much fun. And after we finished, we watched the Wolves beat the Spurs!

We all worked hard getting ready for finals and the finish of the first semester. Epsilon Chapter wishes all the brothers the best of luck and hopes you all had a great holiday season.

Mu

Massachusetts College of Pharmacy

We held the Province I convention here the weekend of November 18. We initiated our new GCD into the brotherhood of Kappa Psi and discussed future plans for the province. URI, MCP and UCONN attended the convention. Unfortunately, there was no one available at that time from Albany Pharmacy. Brothers from each of these chapters and John Grossomanides, Province I supervisor, took part in the initiation of Peter Steere, the new GCD of Mu. The convention was successful and a lot was accomplished.

At our Thanksgiving food drive, we received donations from the MCP community and the brothers of Mu. The collections were donated to a local food bank and were served to the needy on Thanksgiving day.

Rush began November 30 and will continue until pledging begins in February. We will meet and get to know potential pledges, as well as have some fun with the brothers. We are hoping for a good turnout and a strong pledge class to keep the tradition of Kappa Psi alive.

Plans are well underway for the 50th GCC in Ft. Lauderdale. As it looks right now, Mu should be receiving partial funding from MCP, which will allow for a much larger Mu representation. We are planning some fund-raisers in addition to selling T-shirts. We look forward to seeing some new shirt designs when we all get together in Ft. Lauderdale.

Pi

Purdue University

It has been a wonderful semester here, and Pi Chapter has done many things for the community. We provided a brown bag service at a local assisted-living facility, held our annual holiday toy party and caroled at the veterans hospital. We are planning our lipid monitoring program for next semester. For the holiday toy party, the brothers of Pi Chapter got together and threw a party for the school of pharmacy and the rest of the campus. The "ticket" into the party was a new, unopened toy that was collected and given to the local YWCA women's shelter. The women's shelter, in turn, gave the toys to the needy children of the Greater

Lafayette area. Last year, we took 10 bags of toys to the shelter and this year we expanded on that number.

We had a great pledge class this year and pledged 12 new brothers into our brotherhood. The brothers of Pi Chapter would like to extend a thank you to the brothers of Gamma Pi and Gamma Chi for attending and helping us with our help night. This pledge class did bring about some changes to our chapter, though. Historically, we have been an all-male chapter, but this year we had a brother transfer here from Beta Upsilon, and that opened our doors to female Kappa Psis. We have welcomed that change and are very proud of our first female brothers here at Pi Chapter.

—Bradley McCrory

Beta Eta

West Virginia University

October consisted of pledge activities and Halloween festivities. Pledges actively volunteered at various sites and participated in service projects within the community to fulfill requirements for the chapter. Several brothers carved pumpkins and delivered them to Morgan Manor, a local nursing home, for their residents to enjoy. We also took a trip to Rich's Farm where we enjoyed a very spooky haunted hayride. The last activity for October was a Halloween party. Many brothers wowed everyone with their creative costumes.

Beta Eta added 13 brothers to our chapter. Initiation was held on November 9, and we want to congratulate Trista Weirman, Brice Moorehead, Austin Lilly, Brandy Kines, Christy Edwards, Kristy Cardona, Amanda Stroupe, Maja Mullens, Gary Goad, Mike White, Noor Uzri, John Petts and Nikki Povrozmik. We welcome each new brother to Beta Eta and look forward to making many Kappa Psi memories together.

Several of our brothers traveled to Philadelphia to attend the Province II meeting in November. Kara Bazzie, Stephanie Cromwell, Russell White, Jason Duncan and John Pope had a great time at the meeting and had lots of information to share with our chapter. We were pleased to hear that Province II chapters have adopted a project to raise funds and donate profits to Special Olympics.

We just finished selling T-shirts and have additional fund-raising projects that we plan to initiate soon.

Several Kappa Psi brothers are making plans to attend the annual ski trip to Canaan Valley. Everyone had a great time last year, and we are once again looking forward to lots of fun in the snow.

Beta Gamma

University of California at San Francisco

We have had a successful quarter under the combined leadership of our past and present grand council deputies. We would like to thank Ivy Lee for her commitment to our chapter during the last five years and to welcome Courtney Yuen to our family. With only limited time to learn about Kappa Psi, due to our early rush period, 36 first- and second-year students decided to pledge.

Beta Gamma participated in the American Cancer Society Walk for Breast Cancer and the Pediatric Aids Research Walk, both as runners and volunteers. We had a ghoulish time at our annual Halloween party, complete with a costume contest. During the UCSF School of Pharmacy First Annual Homecoming, we held an open house for alumni and family of brothers to view the renovated house. In November, we had a mentoring session with alumni so brothers could learn about opportunities during rotations and residencies. Thanksgiving was a family affair as Beta Gamma invited both brothers and nonbrothers to share in a potluck feast. Our Friday spirit day tradition has continued.

Due to the high demand, we had a recent Kappa Psi gear sale so brothers would have something new to wear next quarter. At the beginning of next quarter, we will be hosting a cocktail hour at the house for current brothers and alumni. Finally, we are looking forward to seeing all of you at the APhA annual meeting in March in our wonderful city of San Fran!

-Christine Gonzalez

Beta Epsilon

University of Rhode Island

On October 31, we hosted a successful job fair with the University of Rhode Island College of Pharmacy. Brothers Jason Cross, Dea Belazi, Matt Dionne and Joel Boerth put many hours of hard work into the fair with the proceeds helping to reduce the cost of attending the ASHP midyear clinical meeting in Las Vegas.

Along with several other organizations, we are developing educational curricula to help young children between the ages of 3 and 7. Brothers Dave Dore and Josh Peters were selected to head committees that will work with the Rhode Island Poison Prevention Center to prepare this program for area pre-schools for poison prevention week in March.

The brothers hosted several graduate brothers as they returned to the university for homecoming. They included Grad Brothers Jim Capone, Rich Frye, Brian Musiak, Rob Licalzi, Derek Dore, Rich Wojotowicz and John Ferris. The brothers once again beat the nine pledges we have this semester in a game of backyard football. Our dominating floor hockey team, led by captain Eric Peterson, is also back in action as we were undefeated through the regular season and currently in the intramural

To end the semester, we had a semiformal on December 1 at a local hotel. It was a great time and a great way to end the semester.

Beta Kappa

University of Pittsburgh

Beta Kappa Chapter is proud to announce the recent initiation of 19 new brothers: Julie Aaron, Neil Burd, Beta Kappa brother Kendra Beck playing darts (she got a bull's-eye!).

Sonia Chung, Tim Freda, Mark Garofoli, Michael Heesters, Jackie Houston, Eron Jaber, Christy Kelso, Kara Kowalsky, Kricket Milo, Maria Pastrikos, Liz Poole, Jeff Sivik, Jamie Spak, Erin Walsh, Katie Wang, Jaci Wellman and Kari Wilkerson. They were one of our best pledge classes ever, full of strength and spirit! At the end of the fall term, we had elections for new chapter officers. We wanted to get some fresh faces in leadership positions to bring new ideas to our chapter.

Our next major event was the annual Christmas party, which was also senior gifts night, as some seniors graduated in early December. When we returned from winter break, we had a great adventure on the Beta Kappa ski trip at Seven Springs

Other upcoming events include: spring rush, a toga party, a Founder's Day party, continued service projects with Family House and perhaps another trip to Punxatawney for Ground Hog Day.

Beta Lambda

The University of Toledo

The men of Beta Lambda, under the leadership of our new officers Brian Kuruc, regent; Kurt Lupton, vice-regent; James Snyder, secretary; Jim Lowery; historian; Jason Gable; historian; George Heck, sergeant-at-arms; and Ryan Wagner, chaplain, have achieved many great things during the fall semester. As a result of a very active recruiting campaign we managed to draw our largest pledge class in recent memory. On December 3, following a ceremony at the Beta Lambda house, we held a dinner in honor of our newest brothers at the Spaghetti Warehouse in downtown Toledo. We would like to recognize the following men as the newest additions to the Beta Lambda Chapter: Mario Board, Bo Carnicom, Clark Culley, Jonathan Fether, Matt Fettman, Kyle Kamlowsky, Jason Lynch, Dan O'shaughnessy, Aaron Peck, Steve Rehner and Tony Ruiz. Congratulations, gentleman! We expect many great things for you in the years to

On Friday, October 20, the annual Kappa Psi Halloween party was held at the American Legion Post 553. The event was open to the entire college of pharmacy, and the turnout was exceptional. In conjunction with this event, we also held a canned food drive to benefit the less fortunate members of the Toledo community. We were able to collect enough items to sponsor two families for the holidays and still have enough left over to make a donation to a local food bank.

As a community service project, we visited several nursing homes on Veterans Day. We honored those who are veterans and participated in a variety of activities with the residents. The responses of both the residents and the brothers of the Beta Lambda Chapter were so positive that we plan on visiting these facilities in the future.

The greatest accomplishment of the semester was successfully hosting the 48th Annual Kappa Psi Dinner Dance. The event, which was held at the Clarion Westgate on November 18, was in honor of the fourth-year BSPS and fifth-year BSP graduating classes of 2001 and the fifth-year Pharm D graduating class of 2002. We would like to thank Dean Johnnie Early for his inspirational words as our guest speaker, Dr. Richard Hudson for his "senior comments" and Dr. Steven Peseckis for the annual slide show presentation.

At this year's event we presented the Fellowship Award to Jason Gable and the Brother of the Year Award to Lorne Roby. Thank you, Jason and Lorne, for all of your hard work and dedication. Your commitment and loyalty has helped the Beta Lambda Chapter reach new heights

We would also like to congratulate Dr. Richard Hudson who was honored as UT Kappa Psi Faculty of the Year

Beta Chi

Drake University

Beta Chi's fall semester was quite busy. In October, we had a blast at Conclave in South Dakota, and brothers volunteered at the Des Moines Blank Park Zoo for the "Night Eyes" Halloween event. We also met with the other three professional fraternities at Drake for our four-way party. It was a blast from the past as Beta Chi brothers dressed in hippie gear. The party continued through November with our second annual formal dance held at the Iowa Cubs club-

Moneymakers last semester included selling drug face T-shirts with appropriate expressions for such drugs as Lithium, Prozac, Viagra and others. Another fund-raising event was selling tickets to an early-morning sale at Younkers, a local retail store. Three brave Beta Chi brothers volunteered at the sale from 5:30 to 10 on a Saturday morning.

Future events include attending a hockey game with alumni as well as a breakfast with our Kappa Psi faculty. We are looking forward to the activation of our pledges and are excited to start the spring semester with 17 new brothers.

Beta Nu

Creighton University

After a week of rush activities, including sand volleyball, baseball and pool, we had 30 people pledge. We tried some new activities this semester to accommodate the number of pledges. Our first activity was a picnic at the park before Labor Day weekend. We also had a weekend retreat, our traditional hayrack ride, luau and several other activities. All of our pledges also took part in commu-

Initiation was held Friday, November 17; we initiated 26 members. We were honored to have brothers from the Beta Chi (Drake) and Gamma Epsilon (UNMC) chapters attend our initiation ceremony. Finally, I would like to introduce our new brothers: Amy Adams, Beth Borders, Mary Brewer, Jennifer Buck, Mandy Deal, Lisa Dutton, Corey Edic, Jason Enders, Jamie Hanes, Shawn Hegner, Alison Jensen, Stephanie Johnson, Amy Jolly, Sharon Keaulana, Kelli Lewandowski, Margaret Nguyen, Ify Obiora, George Okpalaeze, Brian

Beta Xi University of North Carolina

The brothers of Beta Xi are ecstatic to announce the induction of our largest pledge class in five years. On November 18, we welcomed 16 new members into our brotherhood. During the semester, the newest brothers hosted a car wash for a very successful fund-raiser to contribute toward the sprinkler system for our chapter house. They also worked in conjunction with the Ronald McDonald House of Chapel Hill to help make luminaries for Christmas.

On behalf of the Beta Xi brothers, I would like to sincerely thank the Kappa Psi chapters who have graciously donated funds for our sprinkler cause. One goal was to raise $62,000 in five years, and we are only $10,000 away. Your continued support and donations are appreciated as we work toward our goals. Construction of our sprinkler system began December 18, just after completion of final exams. Hopefully the construction will be completed shortly after the new year so we can begin our usual rush activities.

As far as brotherhood activities, this has been one of the busiest semesters for the Beta Xi Chapter. We are finalizing plans for hosting the annual province meeting in hopes that all of you will be able to attend. Last semester, we hosted a health fair at a local mall where we counseled on diabetes, arthritis, depression and various other disease states. Our booth was popular for the entire afternoon, and we received some interesting questions. We also collected funds from pharmacy students, with Beta Xi matching the total, to sponsor a needy family for Christmas. After buying toys for the children, we also bought one days worth of prescriptions for the oldest member of the family. So often we forget just how fortunate we are to have a brotherhood around us on which we can depend to help us work through any problem life puts in front of us. Our annual Christmas semiformal was December 8 with Secret Santa gifts and a disc jockey. One of the UNC School of Pharmacy professors served as our Santa Claus, and as usual, he had just as much fun as we did.

you Beth Kneissel, new member recruiter, and Heather Schumacher, pledge trainer, for a job well done.

This year's Homecoming was a success. Many alumni came back to see the newly remodeled house. At the end of October, many brothers and pledges attended our province meeting in Brookings, South Dakota. Bringing the most members and presenting the best chapter report earned us the "traveling trophy" and "Golden Peanut" awards. Josh Nielsen was elected secretary-treasurer of the province. This semester, we were also lucky enough to have Jami Schell from Beta Nu stay with us while she completed a pharmacy rotation in Fargo. Beta Sigma's door is always open, so when in Fargo, stop on by. We have also had time to donate to the Little Country Theatre and the Children's Museum at Yunker Farm. During the holiday season, we rang bells for the Salvation Army and caroled for canned goods.

Beta Omega

Temple University

Along with the change in seasons comes much anticipation and great expectations for the boys of Beta Omega. What an exhilarating three months it has been since you've last heard from us.

We were especially excited to have hosted the Province II meeting in the fall. All chapters from the province had representation and all were entrusted with a fantastic time that only Beta Omega can impart.

We've also been busy socially. We hosted two socials including a Halloween costume party that was cohosted by the women's gymnastics team. Over 500 people cramped into our three-story bungalow, and merrymaking

We made over $2,000 that night. A portion of the money was donated to various charities, including the St. Jude's Foundation; the second portion was used to refloor our library, which now stands complete.

It is also pledging season, and we are happy to have nine fresh new faces to add to an already solid group of brothers. We hosted our annual "holly hop" in which the pledges and brothers of Beta Omega gathered with Lambda Kappa Sigma to decorate our Christmas tree and do a bit of "mingling." The night was a huge success and everyone looks forward to doing it again next

Because of the hard work of Beta Omega's officers, they have laid a foundation of confidence and hope. We stand strong and proud as the future is very promising for the boys of Temple University.

Gamma Epsilon

University of Nebraska

The Gamma Epsilon chapter has been very busy this fall semester. On November 10, we initiated 15 members at the UNMC College of Pharmacy. They are Nick Norgard, Jeff Kileen, Jill Allard, Tiffany Gruebet, Rebekah Rowlands, Jami Bartak, Katie Speidel, Julia Huebner, Paula Svoboda, Ann Augustine, Kimi Ueda, Juliana Devries, Heather Henning, Kim Rickert and Sara Wilken.

Following the initiation, we enjoyed a dinner and reception with our GCD and dean of the college. We are extremely excited to welcome these members into our chapter.

Pledge trainer Heather Schumacher (front row) with the newest Beta Sigma Brothers.

Our second big project this semester has been planning for the spring Province VIII assembly. This will be held March 2-4, 2001, at the Ameristar Hotel and Casino, and our theme is Viva Las Vegas. We are also offering a career fair to regional brothers of Kappa Psi.

Our philanthropies this semester have included Adopt-a-Highway and the Ronald McDonald House. We are fundraising by working at the Civic Auditorium during hockey and basketball games. As this semester comes to an end, we are all ready to enjoy the break, but are also looking forward to an exciting spring semester.

The Beta Xi Chapter, who has been cleaning the highway for 10 years, prepares to go once again.

Gamma Eta

What a busy semester! Gamma Eta's initiation was held November 28, and 20 new brothers were welcomed into the Agora after successful completion of their eight-week pledge education period. Congratulations to Frances Baconguis, Molly Billstein, Marcie Bough, Allisen Brisben, Marisa Clarke, Matthew Dickson, Stephanie Janson, Julie Kind, Kally Kuchynka, Heidi Kuiper, Beth Lyons, Kristy Maffit, Zachary Miller, Eric Nickisch, Teri Ogg, Dara Slunaker, Steve Thorvilson, Kenneth Walker, Henry Griffith and Jason Nickisch. This dynamic addition brings our collegiate chapter membership to 80 and allows the assurance of continued excellence in Gamma Eta for several more years to come.

The annual Christmas party that Kappa Psi hosts for all faculty, staff, students and significant others of the School of Pharmacy and Allied Health Sciences was held on Saturday, December 9, at Orchard Homes Country Life Club. At this semiformal, we enjoyed a fivecourse dinner, decorations, a Christmas tree, music and a visit from Santa with specialty gifts and an explanatory poem. A professional DJ provided the music that gave us a chance to dance and relax with friends and colleagues to start the holiday season and get ready for finals.

Once again, Kappa Psi participated in the American Red Cross Adopt-a-Family program. This year we were assigned a family of five-the parents and three children, ages 16, 13 and 11. Neither parent was employed as a result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident that was not their fault. Despite these setbacks, both parents are currently looking for employment. The family is not receiving any government assistance. Without aid, this family would not have celebrated Christmas this year.

Gamma Eta sponsored the annual ethanol awareness event on November 27 for P-2 students and observers, with Dr. Johnston, members of the Montana State Crime Lab and Officer Dave Mills of the Montana State Highway Patrol. The information on the pharmacological effects and pharmacokinetics of ethanol and data gathering from six P-2 student volunteers for use in pharmacology later in the semester was a success. The effects of ethanol intake with or without food, in both males and females, was collected after tasks that included writing names, optical glare recovery time, field sobriety testing, reading and correctly writing from memory single sentences, and performance on the game Operation. Many thanks to student volunteers Henry Griffith, Krista Hunt, Mindy Morris, Paula Shaffer, Vince Stone and Collin Reinke. Thanks also to brothers Amanda Thuesen, Brady Smith and Chris Rio who helped gather the data and set up the event.

Gamma Eta sponsored tailgate parties before every home game for the number-one-ranked Grizzly football team. We also participated in the American Heart Association's Walk-a-thon before one of the games.

On Halloween, the brothers of Gamma Eta once again held a trick-or-treat for the Povarello Food Center, which garnered two truckloads of food for those who need it most.

In November, we teamed up with Z100, a local radio station, during their Thanksgiving Guerilla Food Drive, and Kappa Psi sponsored a live remote at the Rosauers Food Market. CDs donated by local radio stations were traded for food donations. Gamma Eta stuffed a $50 bill and a $100 bill into two of the CDs to enhance participation. In addition, Wendy's, McDonald's and Arby's food coupons were hidden in several of the CDs to thank the participants for donations. In one five-hour period, over two truckloads of food and over $300 was raised for the food bank.

Gamma Theta

University of Missouri—Kansas City

We had a great fall pledge season with activities that included our traditional pledge-active bowling night and an evening of trivia at Buffalo Wild Wings.

In December, we initiated seven members into Kappa Psi: Steven Blanner, Joe Farrar, Wada Hamra, Patrick McNeill, Chad Rollins, Bob Seymore and Gregory Wilson. Congratulations to the newest brothers of Gamma Theta.

Our focus now switches to our second semester and philanthropy projects with Adopt-a-Highway and the American Red Cross. Another undertaking Gamma Theta is involved with is assisting with Crowd Systems, Inc. in working some of the sporting and public events around Kansas City.

We hope to see everyone at Province VII in Amarillo, Texas this April.

-Thomas Gregory

Gamma Kappa

South Dakota State University

On October 27 and 28, our chapter hosted the Province VIII Conclave. The themes for the socials were Wild, Wild West and Disco Fever. The weekend went smoothly, and everyone had a great time thanks to those who put the time and effort into its planning. We look forward to the spring conclave in Omaha, Nebraska, to reunite with our provincial brothers once again.

Earlier this semester, a number of brothers donated blood through the American Red Cross. Considering the drop in the current blood supply, we were happy to donate some of ours. We are also looking for ways to donate our time to the Ronald McDonald House, which is a new provincewide philanthropy initiative.

Having enjoyed the company of our brothers from the other chapters at conclave, we sent two brothers to Drake University for Beta Chi's Kappa Psi formal on November 18. They had a great time, and we'd like to host a formal ourselves either this spring or next fall. But before that, we had a Kappa Psi Christmas beach blast at our house for our brothers to get together one more time before winter break and don their best beach attire.

We are also planning on hosting a Kappa Psi golf tournament this spring, along with the college of pharmacy, as a fund-raiser for our continuing house improvements. We hope to hold this in conjunction with our second annual "glory days," where we invite all of our alumni back to the house to have a good time and reminisce.

Finally, our chapter recently initiated 18 brothers into our chapter, one of our largest pledge classes ever. Congratulations to Travis Anderberg, Scott Bergman, Nathan Bjornson, Ben Cooper, Yusuf Dawoodbhai, Paul Del Rio, Heather Hodges, Peter Horn, Jessica Laintz, Melissa Langland, Briana Marcotte, Amy Olson, Amanda Peterson, Shawna Sweeter, Melissa Trittin, Jessie Warwick, Tiffani Wenande and Neil Matthiesen, who received the Outstanding Pledge award. We are very pleased with our newest brothers, and our chapter looks forward to extending Kappa Psi's influence in the coming year.

Gamma Sigma

University of Florida

The brothers of Gamma Sigma would like to congratulate the eight new brothers that were initiated this fall. These pledges proved that with dedication it doesn't take a large number to accomplish many things. The new members are Mike Comber; Ben Brielmaier, pledge class president; Pat Jerome; Nathan Meyer; Nakyo Grant; Neetin Patel; Chris Glennon; and Scott Lagasse. Scott Lagasse is student council president, Ben Brielmaier is 1PD representative and Pat Jerome is BOCC representative. These were just three of the eight offices won by Kappa Psi brothers on a student council of 18 people.

Pledge events this year included a pledge-brother flag football game, paintball, a luau, football game day warmups, Adopt-a-Highway road cleanup, a fund-raiser with the Jaycees at the U of F Homecoming parade and the famous poker night. A special thanks to Matt Harris, pledge master, and Bill Dolan, assistant pledge master, for the fantastic job they did with the pledge class.

The brothers were busy with several public service projects in the fall including a candy drive for the children of Shands hospital, a clothing drive for the needy, a diabetes display and a program on the dangers of substance abuse. The diabetes display was put together by brother Chris Duiven and consisted of literature about the disease and ways in which we as pharmacists can assist the public in monitoring the disease. Chris, Regent Ben Staley and several other brothers took shifts in manning the display at a health fair inside Shands Hospital. The brothers counseled patients on disease management and gave free blood glucose measurements. For the program on substance abuse, James Crawshaw, Brian Palmer and Scott Wink drove an alumnus to school so he could share his story. Brothers and about 100 of our classmates came for what turned out to be a very inspirational discussion on his life and constant struggle with addiction.

Gamma Phi

University of Georgia

Another semester has come to an end at Gamma Phi and we are pleased to announce that on November 26 we initiated 12 brothers into Kappa Psi. They are Paul Churchman, Matthew Clifton, Beauman Dick, Patrick Ellis, Nathan Ferrell, Ben Grimes, Troy Hopper, Chris Newman, Brac Painter, Jeff Pettis, David Pope and Gene Volfson. These new members have been instrumental to the success of our many projects this semester.

Last semester, we coordinated a Red Cross blood drive at the college of pharmacy, cleaned up for our Adopt-a-Highway program and collected toys to give to the Toys for Tots. The toys were collected as admission to our annual grinch party. And our annual alumni low-country boil and oyster shuck, provided by alumnus Roy Tyson, was a big success. Many brothers also found time to tailgate together prior to UGA football games and spend time socializing at a couple of parties held at our house. Overall, the semester was a lot of fun and we look forward to electing new officers and continuing the Kappa Psi tradition.

—Josh Morris

Ferris State University

As always, fall semester was a busy one. During homecoming, we won first place in the float competition. Our $400 prize went toward repairing the float trailer, which needed some tender loving care.

And moving on with traditions, we had our annual Halloween party and haunted house for the kids of Big Brothers/Big Sisters. The evening consisted of food, candy, pumpkins and screams.

Waving the flags for victory, Gamma Chi brothers take first place in the Homecoming float competition at Ferris State University.

In November, a group of brothers traveled to Purdue University to join the Pi Chapter in initiating their pledges and making the transition from an all-male chapter to a coed chapter. We enjoyed our weekend and would like to say thank you for the invitation.

As turkey day rolled near, we served Thanksgiving dinner to our pharmacy and pre-pharmacy faculty and staff. We do this in appreciation for their hard work in teaching us the meaning of pharmacy school (and as a grade booster).

At the end of the semester, we said goodbye and good luck to our seniors who are working on their clinicals next semester.

Gamma Psi

Mercer University

The momentum that we generated last academic year is still driving us. We hope that our fellow chapters are doing as well. All fall events were successful.

We began the year with our annual road cleanup project. Our next event was a three-on-three basketball tournament, which drew competitors from all four professional classes as well as members of the faculty. The winners received $50 and the second-place team received $25. Our third event was a car wash fund-raiser. This was very successful as well. Most of the money obtained from this function was used to organize our Halloween party. Bobby, dressed as wonder woman, received $50 for winning the costume contest.

Our second fund-raising event, selling drug cards, was also very successful. We used some of the money raised to help fund our Dr. Martin Luther King weekend ski trip, and also to sponsor some of our members to the province meeting in Florida.

We hope to have an excellent spring semester as well. Future events include a softball tournament with the faculty, a blood drive, rush events and a professional meeting. We hope to be the fraternity on campus this year to have the most pledges.

Delta Beta

Southwestern Oklahoma State University

The brothers of Delta Beta have pulled together to continue to build our chapter with the addition of 10 members and neophytes last semester. The new brothers include Nelson Edgeman, Derrick Jones, Keith Chastain, Matt Fulton, Jubin Bhakta, Randy Quattlebaum, Amit Bhakta, Brian Meadors, James Meadors and Shane Norris. Congratulations, guys!

Last semester, we participated in a Mexican stack supper, Toys for Tots and Adopt-a-Highway cleanup. This was an excellent semester for the brothers of Kappa Psi.

We would like to thank Ross Smith for his contributions to Kappa Psi as regent of the Delta Beta Chapter during fall semester. Ross has put a lot of time and effort into getting our brothers together to get things done and spark some new ideas for the future.

We would also like to congratulate Mark Mayer who was voted best member of the fall semester. Mark has also put a lot of time into this chapter including recruiting pledges, intramural sports and being a leader as our co-vice regent.

New officers have been elected for spring semester. Our regent will be Patrick Culley, and co-vice regents will be Terry Holbrook and Chad Jones.

Delta Gamma

Auburn University

After pledging 46 pharmacy students into the fraternity, the new members had a unique week of clues that led to the discovery of their big brothers.

The big brother/little brother revealing party was held at the Auburn Bowling Lanes. As a final clue before the party, the little brothers had to eat a bowl of ice cream to discover their big brother's name, which was written in the bottom of the bowl. The brothers then enjoyed an entertaining night of cosmic bowling and fellowship.

The 2000–2001 new members elected Case McKee as their pledge class president. Case will be responsible for coordinating the pledge class service project and the chapter's composite picture.

For our fall fund-raiser we held a ticket raffle, and the winner received a $500 award. This fund-raiser proved to be a huge success due to the great participation by members and other pharmacy students.

On November 20, the new members were formally initiated into the Delta Gamma Chapter of Kappa Psi. This was a fun and memorable experience for the new members as well as older brothers.

Delta Kappa

Howard University

In October, our brothers, along with other students of Howard University School of Pharmacy, participated in the 13th annual AIDS Walk on Washington 2000. We all wore red ponchos and stood on the National Mall to help create the world's first human red ribbon in support of AIDS research and awareness. The next week, brother Wanda Featherson, our vice regent, coordinated a voter registration rush where we encouraged the pharmacy students new to the District of Columbia to register to vote in one of the most important presidential elections in United States history.

October also marked our fastest, most efficient and prolific fund-raising projects of the year. Special commendations go to our regent, Sean Boynes, and our new secretary, Sylvia Harrison, for spearheading the ingenious idea of a raffle ticket sale. After such a short period of time, the significant success of this fund-raiser showed how brothers of Kappa Psi can pull together to reach our goal.

We also had a brunch, bake sale and barbecue at the end of our annual Kappa Psi week.

The Friday before Kappa Psi week, pharmacy students were already enjoying the baked goods between classes. That night the school was decorated with gray wallpaper, red streamers and Kappa Psi letters for the scarlet red and cadet gray day, and we all wore our paraphernalia.

The next day was diabetes and breast cancer awareness day. We distributed pamphlets and posted signs to remind students of the importance of supporting these research initiatives.

The week also included an informative meeting about the benefits of becoming a brother of Kappa Psi and a seminar entitled Pharmacy Careers from a Student's Perspective. Brothers of Delta Kappa spoke about their experiences with various pharmaceutical internships and rotations, ranging from retail to research and from industrial sales to serving at an Indian reservation.

The week ended with a barbecue lunch in front of the school where our Delta Kappa advisor and academic dean, Dr. Ofosu, selected the winning raffle

The next week was Howard University's homecoming, and our brother Tory Taylor participated as the pageant entertainment in her new gospel recording group, Covenant.

Schoolwide elections took place soon afterward, and congratulations are in order for brothers Kofi Bawuah and Cheryl Gilbreath, this year's student council president and vice president of the HU College of Pharmacy, Nursing and Allied Health Sciences

Delta Lambda

Campbell University

There was no time to sit around last semester and watch the leaves fall in Buies Creek. The Delta Lambda Chapter was busy with various service projects, having fun and initiating one of the largest pledge classes in recent years.

The pledge period included the usual service projects like trash pickup and a Halloween carnival at Falcon's Children's Home. The pledges also had a spaghetti dinner fund-raiser that put Chef Boyardee to shame.

We are proud to say that we initiated 33 brothers last semester: Kevin Shukla, Dana Deese, Kelly Klimczak, Laura Huddleston, Kim Evans, Richard Alonso Jr., Valerie Smith, Katherine Tsafatinos, Melissa Eldridge, Melissa Melvin, Susan Byrd, Vickie Wells, Jennifer Jones, Donaver Evans, Jon Sutherland, Heather Jackson, Krista Rivenbark, Elizabeth Truman, Christan Turner, Norma Spell, Trevor Gonsalves, Jennifer Lazo, Leann Yates, Leena Hemrajani, Crystal Murphy, Joy Bowman, Bracken Liles, Randilyn Mendez, Keri Hoye, Kristy Perry, Mandie Bowles, Trish Brennan and Michelle Saunders

These new brothers are very enthusiastic and ready to keep the ideals and traditions of Kappa Psi alive and well at Campbell.

Other projects completed last semester included the semiannual blood drive and various clothes drives for the needy.

Delta Xi

Shenandoah University

Shenandoah University has had a very exciting fall semester that will go down in the history books, not only for the university, but for Kappa Psi as well.

Delta Xi brothers had the honor of being hosts to guests during the dedication of the White Pharmacy to Shenandoah University's Bernard J. Dunn School of Pharmacy. Eugene V. White, RPh., graduate of Medical College of Virginia, and Kappa Psi brother, Theta Chapter, has been a pioneer in the office-based practice of pharmacy. He has been an inspiration to many pharmacists and pharmacy students by providing an example of how a traditional pharmacy practice can change from a business concerned with volume and profits to a more patient-oriented setting.

We are very thankful for everything Mr. White has done, not only for our school, but for the future of our chosen profession. To show our gratitude as a chapter of Kappa Psi, Delta Xi awarded Eugene V. White the Asklepios Key at a lecture series held each year in his name at the school of pharmacy. The university, in showing their appreciation, announced at the dedication of the White Pharmacy that Mr. White will graduate with the second graduating class from the Shenandoah University School of Pharmacy with an honorary Doctorate of Pharmacy.

Along with these historical events, Delta Xi has had an eventful semester. The chapter volunteered several times at the Youth Development Center in Winchester, Virginia, as chaperones for dances and as participants in the Halloween haunted house. Brothers of Delta Xi also carved pumpkins and donated them to a local nursing home.

Another very successful event was the Eugene V. White lecture series. At this lecture, Kappa Psi hosted guest speaker Tim Lucas, RPh., president of the Virginia Pharmacist Association. The topic of his presentation was "A Look into Pharmacy's Crystal Ball." Mr. Lucas showed us where the future of pharmacy is headed and helped us realize that we, as students and future pharmacists, can play a pivotal role in that future. We thank Mr. Lucas for taking his time to come and visit our school.

There were many pledging events this semester including the scavenger hunt, bowling with members of the Luzerne County Pharmacists Association, the MAC project and the making of a banner.

The pledges also participated in Bowl for Breath, a community service project.

Socially, brothers enjoyed the Halloween and Founder's Day parties. Many brothers attended these events which helped the pledges get to know the brothers. At the Halloween party, everyone dressed up and had a great time relaxing from classes. The Founder's Day party, held at the Voodoo Lounge, was the first nonformal dance the chapter has had. We would like to thank the faculty brothers who attended, particularly Dr. Maize, our GCD, and Dr. Jacobs, our assistant dean.

Thank you to all the brothers who helped out with pledging events this semester and to Ron Davis for tackling the job of pledge master.

Delta Omicron is very proud of the three fraternity awards we recently received, including sixth best chapter in the fraternity, the Nick Fenney award and best chapter in Province II. The brothers worked very hard to receive these awards and plan to keep up the hard work.

Minnesota Graduate

We met for our business meetings twice this year and a baseball game this summer. Unfortunately, it was one of the only rainout games of the season, so we met for dinner instead.

We had fun this summer supporting the Montana brothers on the diabetes ride through our state. Along with Epsilon, we rode with them through several cities, took them out for dinner and hosted a barbecue the next day. It was a great experience for all who attended. Congratulations, Montana brothers, on an incredible accomplishment!

Pacific Graduate

Homecoming 2000 was a great event this year. Gamma Nu celebrated its 40th anniversary and Pacific Graduate celebrated its 35th anniversary. We thank the collegiate brothers and sisters for a wonderful Homecoming weekend. Friday night was a great opportunity for the collegiate and alumni brothers to bond while at the house watching the Tyson fight. On Saturday, we had our annual meeting with collegiate and alumni brothers. The brothers also put on a great barbecue that afternoon. Our annual Homecoming Banquet was held that evening at The Warehouse, a beautiful restaurant looking out on the marina.

The Carnegie award was presented to Derrick Egi who has exemplified what brotherhood means. Derrick also received a scholarship from the Pacific Graduate Chapter.

We thank the collegiate brothers for putting together a wonderful slide show and also being great DJs.

On Sunday we played our annual collegiate and alumni football game and, of course, the outcome wasn't even close. Alums always beat the collegians!

At our annual Homecoming meeting. we elected new Pacific Graduate officers for the upcoming year: regent, Chris Amaral; vice regent, Mark Pinski; treasurer, Don Floriddia; historian, Sam Hodges; and secretary, Gabe Leung. A special thanks goes to our outgoing regent, Peter Koo. He has been PacGrad's regent for the past nine years.

Providence Graduate

Over the past year, more than 93 brothers contributed dues from different states around the country including California, Tennessee, Arkansas, Minnesota, Connecticut and, of course, Rhode Island.

Two brothers, Mike Sherry and John Grossomanides, represented our chapter at the Province I meeting at

The PGC was also well represented at the ASHP midyear meeting in Las Vegas in December.

One of the many strengths of the Providence Graduate

Chapter has been its strong ties with the undergraduates of Beta Epsilon. This relationship between graduates and undergraduates continues to grow year after year. We were pleased to have 12 of our members join the undergraduates of Beta Epsilon at the URI homecoming celebration October 14, and we also look forward to helping Beta Epsilon celebrate its 90th anniversary in 2001.

The PGC wishes to congratulate another member who has demonstrated leadership in our fine profession. Brother Steve Charles is now the president-elect of the Maine Society of Hospital Pharmacists. We wish him well in his new role Congratulations also go to brother John Carrera who married Megan Brown this past May. The couple now resides in Bridgewater, Massachusetts. We wish them only the best in their new lives together!

Kudos also go to brother Matt Carangelo who earned his Pharm.D. degree and now lives in New York City. He works for Pfizer in their medical information department.

Brother Leo LaRiviere and his wife Khristine are enjoying their new home in Westerly, Rhode Island.

Province I

The Province I fall meeting was held during the weekend of November 17-19. It was hosted by Mu Chapter at the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy and Allied Health Services (MCPHS). Friday night entertainment at the Harvest Ball was sponsored by MCPHS where hors d'oeuvres were served and a DJ provided music for dancing. The business meeting took place Saturday morning. Chapters present were Mu, Nu, Beta Epsilon, Providence Grad and Boston Grad. The highlight of the day was the initiation of a new GCD for Mu Chapter. All brothers at the meeting took part in the initiation. After all business was conducted, 15 brothers ate lunch at a cafe near MCPHS.

We are currently planning the spring Province I meeting, which will be hosted by Beta Epsilon Chapter at the University of Rhode Island.

Province VIII

Province VIII held their biannual province meeting October 27-29 in Brookings, South Dakota. The final registry was 88 brothers. All chapters were represented. The weekend's activities were hosted by the Gamma Kappa Chapter under the direction of their conclave coordinator Jerri Knippling.

A special thanks to the national officers who attended including Brian Reisetter, grand regent, and Dave Maszkiewicz, graduate member-at-large.

On Friday night, brothers line danced all night at the "Wild, Wild West" theme party, enjoying reunions and brother-

On Saturday morning, the meeting was called to order by our satrap, Becky Nowak. During the meeting, it was decided that the Ronald McDonald House would serve as our province philanthropy for 2001. Chapters were encouraged to do at least one (or one additional) activity for this great cause. Increasing interchapter and province communications via our province listserv was also emphasized throughout the weekend.

For the first time ever, we incorporated pledges into the business meeting by inviting them to attend the chapter report portion. Afterwards, they attended a pledge workshop led by Grand Regent Brian Reisetter.

We also elected two new province officers: Jami Schell, vice satrap (Beta Nu) and Josh Nielson, secretary/treasurer (Beta Sigma)

During the banquet Saturday evening, Jeremy Fejfar, Gamma Kappa regent, Gary Van Riper, Gamma Kappa GCD and Danny Lattin, dean of the college of pharmacy, shared a few words of welcome and reflection on the weekend.

Graduate Development Committee Chairperson Jen Friehe honored Jerri Knippling of Gamma Kappa with a Kappa Psi recognition button for her hard work in planning the province meeting.

Grand Regent Brian Reisetter presented the Scholarship Tray award to the Beta Chi Chapter. The traveling trophy, awarded to the chapter with the largest percentage of mentors attending the business meeting, was awarded to Beta Sigma, along with the prestigious Golden Peanut award for the best chapter

Later that evening, the 70s disco party provided a great grand finale!

Our History

By Anthony Palmieri III, Grand historian and Editor 1980-1995

The MASK of Kappa Fraternity 1904-1950

s the official publication of Kappa Psi, The MASK has had a long and honored history in the world of professional magazines. The rather unusual name is derived from the pledge pin. The magazine has always been a major public relations tool for us and continues to be our second most expensive operational cost, second only to the central office. It is unarguably our greatest educational tool for those in the fraternity, as well as our greatest public relations tool to the outside world. The MASK is sent to all deans of pharmacy schools, many secular libraries, and other professional and social fraternities. Almost our entire public face is through The MASK. Of course, the greatest image we project is that of the individual brothers and chapters as a whole. All undergraduate brothers and graduates who pay dues receive the magazine.

Publication is required according to our constitution. It states that The MASK, as it shall be known, shall contain chapter correspondence and cause the progress and advancement of the society. For all the editors, The MASK has been a labor of love. It is the equivalent of having a baby and then letting the entire world see it and comment on it, both positively and negatively. As a former editor, it was with anticipation and trepidation that I would open my copy that arrived in the mail. I would know it was almost perfect but not exactly. The blemish, when there was one, would jump out at me screaming! No one else might notice that blemish but I did, as does any editor.

As written in Brother Garner's history book, the founding fathers of Kappa Psi were interested in developing an outstanding organization and realized that an excellent journal was a necessity. Surviving difficult financial times was the result of dedicated editors and contributors who argued that even though finances were limited. The MASK was an integral part of any success for Kappa Psi.

The early days of The MASK were filled with uncertainty. What should the mission be? What should the content be? Does the cost justify the publication? Early editors had a battle to publish the journal. Early in our history the editor made it clear that The MASK was his responsibility, and while the editor took guidance and sought counsel from the brothers and Executive Committee, each editor gave The MASK his own personality. I am convinced one could read an issue of The MASK and determine who was the editor.

Non-fraternity articles have long been a part of The MASK. As early as 1904, it contained a two-page set of questions from the medical boards. It has often contained articles dealing with the profession. Preston Eldridge was the first editor of The MASK, and for a while, the grand historian was also editor of The MASK. The longest serving editor was A. Richard Bliss, serving from 1910 until his death in 1941. Except for 1904 and 1905 when six issues were published, there has always been four issues per year scheduled.

The MASK has had a variety of derivative titles. The first 12 volumes were published as The MASK. Then for two years it was The

Psi Pharmaceutical

Mask of Kappa Psi Fraternity. From 1917 to 1919 it was The Mask of Kappa Psi Medical Fraternity, and in 1920 it was The Mask of the Kappa Psi Fraternity (Medical). By mid-1920, it was titled The Mask of the Kappa Psi Fraternity. 1921-1924 saw publication under the title of The Kappa Psi Mask. The journal has been named The Mask of Kappa Psi Pharmaceutical Fraternity since 1925. Regardless of a name variation, the word "Mask" was in all titles.

As well as a public relations tool, The MASK serves as a historical document. All issues of the publication have contained chapter news and articles on brothers of note. Because of this, The MASK often serves as a source document for chapters that are celebrating anniversaries and need to learn specifics about their history. For this reason alone, it is critical that chapter historians send news to the editor.

the chance, look at other fraternity magazines, not only in the pharmacy profession, but social and other professional magazines as well. You will be reminded of what a wonderful and informative journal The MASK is, and the devotion of the editor to produce such a publication. While none of the editors were professional journalists, their love of the written word, their desire to publish an outstanding journal, and their love and devotion to Kappa Psi will be apparent. Another important factor that requires the editor to produce a quality publication is the long and illustrious history of The MASK. Later-day editors do indeed stand on the shoulders of the heroes of Kappa Psi, the early editors such as Preston Eldridge and Richard Bliss.

50th Anniversary

Comme Anniverse

Amy Roach and Sue Reed present Dr. John Murphy with a congratulatory certificate for his efforts and hard work as GCD.

As the year 2000 came to an end, the Gamma Upsilon Chapter of Kappa Psi, University of Arizona, celebrated its 50th anniversary.

On Friday, October 27, the brothers past and present gathered at the historic Stillwell-Twiggs House in downtown Tucson to commemorate this achievement. The Gamma Upsilon Chapter was honored to accept a 50th anniversary plaque by special guest Grand Vice Regent Craig Johnston. The editor of The Mask, Johnny Porter, was also welcomed as our guest. Our Grand Council Deputy, John Murphy, Pharm.D., was presented with an appreciation award for his assistance and dedication in making our event a true gala.

The night was set in motion with an hour of brothers socializing and getting to meet past members and the executive committee members. Dr. Murphy compiled a slide show encompassing 50 years of the University of Arizona. A semiformal dinner concluded with dancing in the historic cantina and patio of the Stillwell-Twiggs House.

Gamma Upsilon would like to extend our sincere gratitude to those companies and individuals who allowed our night to be one we won't soon forget. Thank you to Albertsons, Bristol-Myers Squibb, Walgreens and Frys. Our gala was also generously supported by University of Arizona graduates, and we thank you for selfless assistance.

As a new century begins, Kappa Psi remembers its history and will continue to uphold the profession of pharmacy into the new millennium.
